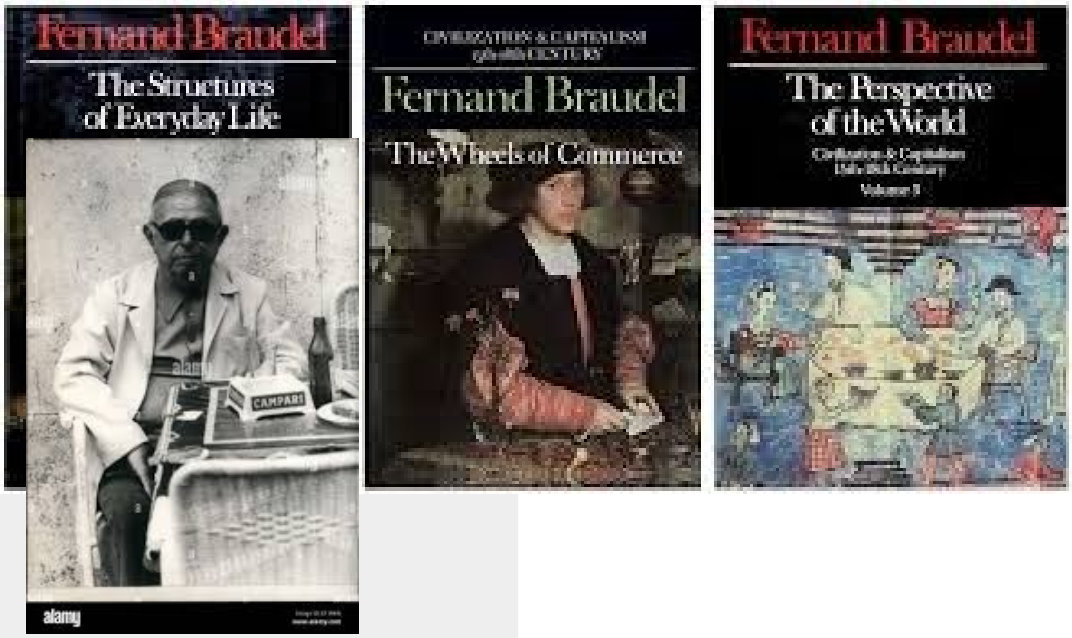
Today’s News Special



A mix of science, history and news and even images of people and personal images and history again. We mean in this piece to

A lot of history of the world then and scientific changes and such long scope histories which Dick Lewontine means is then in fact a long scope of evolutionary biological history.

Stephen argues that one should read these histories as we recently argued and read daily small details like people who sit on a road in Greece and follow labouring rhythms.

This becomes a long duree.

Now I articulate this to Slavoj.

I therefore argue that the metric and complex matrices of statistics is then complexly mediated by social categories which are complex in turn in numerical outcomes of the numerical structure of what in Soviet senses is called actual statistics being graphed and complexly formed and so what then about the final result, the actual econometrics?

History is a long history of many structures and sub-structures of Aegyptology.
